Dear Mr Games,

I invite you to participate in the Conference “BRICS and the Global South: Partnership for a Shared Future”, which will take place on 27–28 May in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, at the EXPOMAG venue.

The co-organisers of the Conference include the Department for External Economic and International Relations of Moscow, the Rio de Janeiro City Hall, the National Front of Mayors of Brazil, and the BRICS+ Association of Cities and Municipalities. The event will feature thematic sessions, roundtable discussions, and project presentations. Among the attendees will be over 700 participants from Russia and Latin America, including mayors of major cities, representatives of regional parliaments, leaders of commercial companies and investment funds, as well as members of business and academic communities, and subject-matter experts.

I am confident that your participation will make a significant contribution to the discussion on the development prospects of BRICS cities and regions. This will mark an important step in shaping new models of cooperation and strengthening strategic partnerships among BRICS participants and friendly nations.
